KLOSET KILLINGS

THE NIGHT BEFORE...

CRAMMING FOR THE FINAL...?

— OR JUST KEEP THOSE WHITES-A-POPPIN —

JESUS SAID: COME TO ME, ALL OF YOU WHO ARE TIRED FROM CARRYING YOUR HEAVY LOADS, AND I WILL GIVE YOU REST. — MATTHEW 11:28

Can WOODSTOCK SURVIVE?

Everybody is looking for community. We want to feel loved and accepted and appreciated. We need to feel a security we can depend on. It's really no wonder that the commune trip is attractive. We'd like to think that it will automatically produce all of these groovy things we're searching for.

It's kind of trippy, but the older generation is looking for community too. That is right. They join clubs, and secret societies, and charities, and churches for the very same reason. Identity can only be appreciated in the context of community. So really, there isn't such a generation gap on that score after all.

But, the important thing to see is that all of these communities are the creation of man, not the creation of God. And that spells just one thing--pollution! Whatever man puts his hands on turns to pollution. We're just now beginning to pick up on how true that really is! Why do you think ecology is such a big ideal?

The point is, God creates perfection; man creates pollution. Why? Because man's on an ego-trip and God is not. Dig?

Sure, man's creation might look groovy for a while, but just give it time. It will show itself up for what it really is. So what does that tell us about the spirit of community at Woodstock? Well, what do you think?

What is cool, though, is that God has created one, and only one, community that is for real. There is absolute love and oneness and unity and unselfishness existing in this community and it is found in the supernatural dimension of His Spirit.

Every single person who has invited Jesus to be Lord over his life, has God's Spirit living inside of him right now. That makes him an automatic member of this special community.

The word for this spiritual commune in the Bible is "Church" - nope, not bricks and pews but an invisible community of oneness. Can you dig it? Better yet, are you digging it? Think it through.

AS I SEE IT BY LARRY NORMAN

As I see it, it is not money, but the love of money that is the root of all evil. That's how the Bible puts it also. And I concur. And though we are not to be of the world, we were called to be in the world. And money has taken the place of beads and sea-shells as the convenient exchange for work and materials.

If you are a workman worthy of your hire and you receive a wage that is larger than those who work around you, do not feel guilty. It is nothing to be ashamed of if your master gives you several talents and gives another servant only one. Remember, to him who much is given, much is required. And if you are faithful in the little you have, even more will be given.

So why do you judge one another? Why do you criticize the Christians among you who have more money than you? Don't you know that God requires them to minister with that money. Perhaps all that they have goes right back into the gospel.

"But it's for the lord, brother", is the excuse most often given for not paying groups or singers who come into churches. As though God expects his work to be done without compensation when he has created our bodies to need food and a shelter from the sky. Well, it takes money to live, just as it takes money to build a church for us to meet in; and the contractor and construction men and the wood and stone don't come for free. And to record a Christian album of any merit costs close to $10,000 and though it is "for the lord" it is certainly not free.

So I write to you in representing the ministers of your churches who you underpay and then make into paper-work business men, holding the finances of the church together; and instead of leaving them free to preach and counsel you, you force them to be the culminated strength of the church's needs instead of appointing responsible and worthy elders to minister to those needs. And you refuse to minister to one another, and certainly neglect to minister back to the elders and the preacher himself. You instead drain upon the energies of the man God has given to you for a teacher.

And I write this to represent the children who minister to you through song. You ask them to come for free, or offer them a "love offering" which is often more a hate-offering: dredged up begrudgingly from the pews. Let me ask you this...should the singer try to be as popular as he can to assure a larger love offering, or should he take a chance and really what might be unpopular with some people and therefore cause him to go hungry? Think on it.

If a free group is what you want to fill out your organized program, then please, there are plenty of groups around who will play for free. Most of them live at home and are supported by their parents and only sing occasionally. They would just love to sing for you. And they might do a nice job of it.

But there are others who are not supported by parents or anyone, and have given up a regularly-paying job to work full time for Jesus. And they can communicate the gospel far better than the other singers who are new to the faith and will play for free.

And it is these people, who are helping to create an impetus in the spiritual revival, who we are starving by not paying. It is these people who we are forcing to quit a full time gospel and take a full time job.

Why do we begrudge them the price they ask? I don't see them wearing expensive clothes or driving a Rolls Royce. They appear to be faithful servants who God is using to win new souls and even uplift and unite we who are already Christians. Expect them to be as faithful with their tithe as you are with yours. (Or are you?)

Let us stop criticizing our ministers and youthworkers and the Christians who minister through song to us.

If they are workmen worthy of their hire, then hire them. If they are doing a job that few others are doing as well, then pay them.

Love one another, and be grateful for the different gifts given to different ones among you, and be more careful and cautious before you criticize.

Phil Ackerman (pictured above) singing at the "Mustard Seed" coffee house, located in the heart of the San Fernando Valley at 5941 Van Nuys Blvd. The Mustard Seed features live performances every Wed., Fri. and Sat. nights, along with Bible and rap sessions led by Rick and Cal. There is a constant flow of excitement, which includes street and bar evangelism. Everyone is welcome to come in and have some drink and eat and rap about the Man. The Mustard Seed offers a wide ministry to those who want to serve Christ and offers a place of love to those seeking true peace. Come in and rap every Wednesday and Friday night 7:30-12:30 p.m.; Saturday night 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. is Bible study with Rick and then street evangelism.

Also on Thursday nights Cal leads a bible study for new Jesus people. Everyone is welcome 7:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

QUO VADIS tells U of ILL. at Urbana about JESUS!

A TALK WITH THE FATHER

Father! Yes, God, I can call you Father, because that's exactly the way I feel about you. I can't see you, but I can feel your presence when I need you. It isn't that I know you're controlling me, Father, when you are guiding my mind and thoughts. It's when I sit down and REALLY analyze what I've done and said that I know it was you in me instead of me, myself. Father, it's sort of weird to know that it's you calling the plays in my life. Am I really worthy of your attention? I know the Bible says I am, but I'm so unimportant, and I'm humble and flattered by your attention.

God, I know your fatherly love also by the way you shove me into doing the right things at the right time--doing things I didn't have, and don't have, the sense or courage to do on my own. I used to think you were just my rash impulses, Father, but now I know it's you. You toss me in and then give me the backing to get your job done. I really feel you, Father, when you slap me on the wrist or punish me when I don't do things the right way your way. You make my conscience hurt. I feel guilty. Things go wrong. But you're good to me Father! You forgive. You forget. You erase my record of sin clean.

Father, God, I acknowledge you as the core of my being...the source of my strength...the essence of my existence. I have felt your closeness. I've known estrangement from you...not by your choice but by my fault. Stay in my conscience and mind, Father. I beg you. Hold me close. Never let go. Mold me like a sculptor carves stone. Chip away my sins and shortcomings. Hew my virtues, mold my strength, and etch in me an immunity to sin. Make me like you, God--like your Son Jesus! Allow me to love and be loved. Since you are my Father, help me to be a son worthy of your love and attention. This is my prayer.

Don't you think it's kind of weird how everybody is bitching about the immorality of killing, particularly in the war scene. Well, that's not weird, because killing is immoral no matter how you look at it. But the freaky thing is that a lot of the same mouths that blast off flak about the war are the same cats that are slowly killing themselves.

It's one thing to expose the war trip for what it is. But there is a lot of war going on right here too. And the killings are just as ugly.

It's about time we're exposing the heroin trip for the killer it really is. Nobody is going to deny the fact that murder in Viet Nam is ugly. But since when is murder in a closet with a needle and a spoon beautiful. I mean, like let's get consistent about this thing!

War is a bummer. Police brutality is a bummer. Brutality toward police is a bummer. And Heroin is a bummer. However it is caused, death is not cool or beautiful. Dig?

If death is not cool then life is. And there is only one man who has the low down on what life is all about and how to plug into a current of supernatural life that goes on forever.

Jesus said: "I am come that you might have life." Heroin says, "I am come that you might have Death." Now which of those two seems the most cool to you?

You can have not only a new life style, but a new life-energy that nobody can turn off. Just by getting it on with Jesus and letting Him turn on your life. Dig? Plug in to His Spirit and let His Love wipe all the living hell out of your system forever.

AS WE WILL JOIN TOGETHER IN THE CELEBRATION OF OUR FAITH IN JESUS!

When God LOOKS DOWN TO CHECK OUT THE CHILDREN OF MEN AND SEE IF THERE IS ANYONE WHO REALLY UNDERSTANDS HIS WILL OR IS REALLY SEEKING HIM....

This is what He sees:

Everyone is rotten through & through and have turned their back on Him... He can't even find 1 that is doing good... not even ONE. (Psalms 53:2,3)

He wants the "Child of Man" to admit (ie. confess) to this shoddy condition to himself and GOD... also his personal helplessness to change this condition on his own.

GOD HIMSELF is so concerned about Man's spiritual condition and He loves the "Child of Man" so much that He sent His only son (Jesus Christ) to save the "Child of Man" from this dilemma.

GOD INVITES the Child of Man to call on Jesus!

HELP ME JESUS!

Don't try to carry this burden alone... bring it to Me and I will ease, relieve & refresh your soul.... If you will receive Me with welcome in to your heart, turn your back on your old life style (instead of turning your back on God) and believe, trust, and rely on Me... I will give you the privilege of becoming a CHILD of God!

I am the WAY, the TRUTH, and the Life (everlasting)...

Come to Me and I will SET YOU FREE!

HERE IS A TESTIMONY

"For a long time we have felt the need of an updated version of the Bible in modern English, one that would be true to the original text and honoring to the deity and person of Jesus Christ. We believe that THE KING JAMES II VERSION provides the answer for this need. We have used thousands of the New Testaments, giving them to the new converts, and find that they can readily understand them and appreciate them. We are eagerly awaiting the Old Testament now being produced, so that we can use the whole Bible in this updated English!"

The Jesus Movement: Revival '71.

This week Larry Badger and Eyewitness News explore the revival phenomenon - a massive crusade that is capturing the hearts of the young from coast to coast. The new cause? Religion. Not the organized religion familiar to many of us. But a simple, and very personal, belief in Jesus and His teachings. A belief that has helped many kick the drug habit. And has given all a new faith in the future.
